Notification Re: Family Educational Records and Privacy Act of 1974

President Berger-Sweeney recently shared with the broad Trinity community the findings of a comprehensive investigation into the September cyberattack that disrupted our network systems for several days. As you read in that message, we learned that the attackers did succeed in acquiring some data from our admissions systems, including a limited amount of biographical and demographic information and, for those in the 2019-20 admissions cycle, some information from application files. Such data included standardized test scores, grade point averages, and admissions decisions. Recommendations submitted on your behalf were not involved.

In keeping with the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), we have placed a recordation of this incident in your electronic educational records at Trinity. As the "eligible student," you have the right to access any education records maintained by Trinity.

If you have questions about the incident, please reach out to cyberincidentinfo@trincoll.edu.
